Policies relating to our Website

Privacy.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Lanarkshire (Middle Ward) , herein after referred to as the “PGL”, recognises the importance of protecting the privacy of visitors to the PGL website. Any personal data collected through the PGL web site will be regarded and treated as confidential in accordance with the principles of the Data Protection Act 1998. However, the collection of such data is unintentional as the PGL has not designed or consciously put in place any system for the collection of personal information.

Disclaimer

The PGL intends that the information published on the PGL Website is up to date and accurate. However, the information on the Website does not constitute legal or professional advice, guidance or recommendations and the PGL, its office bearers, trustees and members and each of them, will not accept any liability for actions arising from its use nor will they be held responsible for the contents of any Website or other source referenced by any external link.

Cookies

The PGL may use “Cookie” technology to track or record information about visitors to the PGL Website. These Cookies are session specific and are not used to record or analyse personal information. Privacy and security are not compromised when users accept a cookie from the PGL Website. Users can refuse Cookies by turning them off through the settings in their web browser.

Questions

Questions regarding these policies should in the first instance be addressed to the Provincial Grand Secretary, Email address as shown in the contacts page.
